NEED FOR CARE IN SWEEPING

Effective Removal of Dust Without Unpleasant Results Requires Care in Operation.

Sweeping should be a process of complete and careful removal of dirt, its purpose being to geather the coarse dirt with the attached dust, and its aim to scatter as little of this dust as possible into the air, in order to prevent a transfer of dirt from one place to another. In order to sweep carpets and rugs effectively a somewhat inflexible, stiff broom is best, because it reaches into the depressions and among the fibers to dislodge the dirt. says Mother's Magazine. If the broom a great deal of dust, consequently it is always best to have the broom a little damp so that it will hold the dirt down and keep it all together.

The raising of dust is always more or less of a problem. But with short, light, wiping, overlapping movements, and then by the stopping of the broom on the floor instead of in the air, most of the inertia of the rising dust our reat may be overcome. In removing the gathered dirt from the floor to the tpan, which is another occasion for dust to find its way back to the carpet, if a newspaper dampened can be fitted over the dustpan and made to stand up as far as possible at the back es a surprising amount of fly ing dust will be collected in this way. Mother's Magazine.

renience a kitchen work basket might be? If not, do arrange to have one at once. The moments you will save by its installment will be many. Place a comfortable, low rocker in the brightest corner of the kitchen and near by make a nook for your work basket. Into it drop such sewing as requires no machine work, the stockings to be mended, the bit of darning and unfinished garments which require a little hand sewing to complete them. While waiting for a cake or a pudding to bake or the kettle to boil many odd stitches may be taken and much accomplished.
